

eSmart News

With the school holidays fast approaching I thought I would share a few different resources that you may find of use, not only during the holidays but also moving forward.

The first is from the Office of eSafety and is aimed at school age children, it's called eSafety for Kids and has a range of advice and ideas for children to help them take charge of their own safety online.

eSafetykids

The second is also from the Office of eSafety and is a great resource for parents. It's the eSafety Guide and is a comprehensive resource on social media, apps and games with links to online safety information and how to report abusive content.

The final resource which I hope you find useful is The Gamer's Guide by Gamers it is written by young adults for young people on how to stay safe and enjoy online gaming.

If you have resources or site you think other parents might find helpful I would love to hear from you or CLICK HERE to let me know your thoughts and/or suggestions for future articles.

Julie Hall
eSmart Co-ordinator
julie.hall2@education.vic.gov.au